Make a Will in less than 20 minutes with Epilogue

My wife Lauren and I have recently used Epilogue Wills to create our own Wills and Powers of Attorney. I wanted to share my experience using the online tool firsthand, and how straightforward the process is.

Once you sign up with Epilogue, you start with a questionnaire that gathers important information about your life as well as your wishes. This includes your assets, property owned and the important people in your life as well as your pets. Based on the information that you provide; you will begin to answer questions on how you want your assets to be distributed and who would be your Executor. Then, Epilogue walks you through “what if” scenarios so your Will includes contingency planning in situations you may not have thought about.

One of the benefits of Epilogue is the ability to go back and make free updates when you have a life change. Recently, my wife and I had a daughter which meant we needed to update our Wills to reflect the new change. We were easily able to update the existing documents to include our daughter in our estate plans, as well as review the existing information to ensure it still reflected our wishes.

If you have any questions about Epilogue, and whether it is a fit for you or someone in your family, please reach out and I am happy to have a conversation!
